"They may not be soul-sucking aliens, but wouldn't be cool if they were?"

Mogu People

www.mogu.com

The Mogu people have come from the planet of Mog to enslave the human race through acts of inspiration and kindness. Actually, they're just pillow-ish dolls with really trendy designs. They're meant to inspire, with each Mogu possessing its own message, but really, they just look especially good in your bedroom. In addition to Mogu People, the website has tons of neat Mogu accessories. Don't sleep, the Mogus are coming...

INSPIRATIONAL LUNACY

PIMP YOUR RIDE

Fly Wheels

www.flywheelstoys.com

You love rims. Whether they're extra shiny chrome, spinners or just unbelievably large, you can't get enough of a car's roundest accessory. Too bad you're too broke (or too young) to own a fly set of your own. Until the day you can afford your favorite rims, you can collect these Fly Wheels. These 100% authentic licensed replicas in 1:10th scale come in any variety you can imagine and look great on display or zipping along at 300 scale miles per hour with the help of a simple ripcord (included). Do stunts or show them off to your friends, either way you'll be saving yourself the price of $20,000 rims.

JUST A FRIEND

Biz Markie Clock by Ecko Unltd.

www.shopeco.com

From being hip-hop's clown prince of rhyme to joining VH1's Celebrity Fit Club, Biz Markie has managed to maintain some form of celebrity status over the years. Now he'll be immortalized in plastic as the second edition of Ecko Unltd's Living Legends series of alarm clocks. Just like the previous Flavor Flav clock, Biz will wake you up with one of four phrases: "Turn the Party Out", "You Caught the Vapors", "As Long as You Know" and "Introduce Myself." Now if only this clock could also pick boogers and make the music with his mouth...

GORILLA IN THE MIST

"After all these years, Donkey Kong is still one funky monkey."

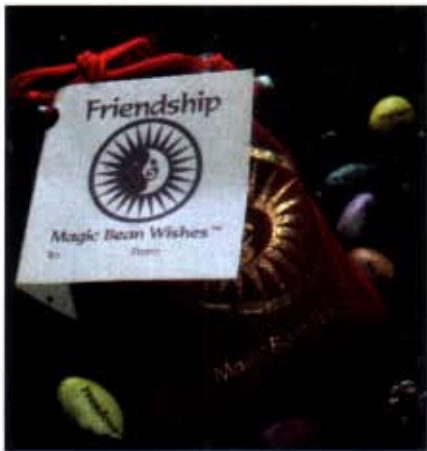

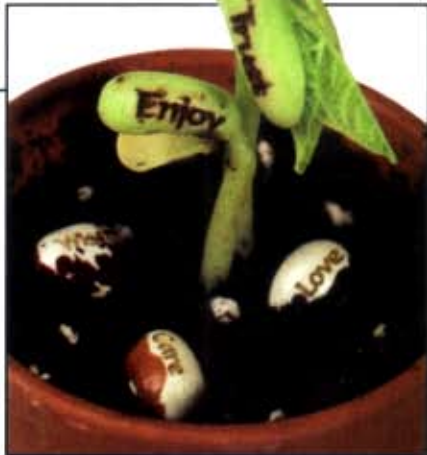

Donkey Kong Jungle Beat & Donkey Konga 2

www.nintendo.com

No, DK Jungle Beat is not another beat-oriented game utilizing Nintendo's incredibly fun DK Bongos (but Donkey Konga 2 is). Believe it or not, Nintendo has extended the lifespan of what easily could have been a novelty peripheral by creating an adventure game that takes full advantage of the bongo's unique controls. Clapping and beating the drums will make DK run, jump, backflip, pound the ground, leap off walls, punch-out baddies and much, much more. Donkey Konga 2 returns with more of the same musical fun as the first installment, but this time the soundtrack has even more contemporary pop — care to bongo along to some Mary J. Blige? The beat of the jungle is in your hands.

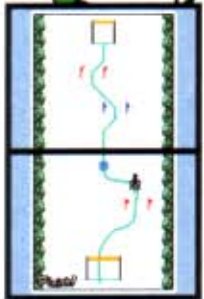

"Donkey's weapons of choice."

Magic Bean Wishes

www.magicbeans.us

Beans: They're not just for dinner anymore. These beans come packed in snazzy velour pouches and have inspirational words such as "Faith" and "Love" emblazoned on their skin. Keep them for good luck or bury them to watch the message grow along with the plants. When you look to pea pods for inspiration, it's time to see a shrink. Seriously.

GET TOUCHED

Wario Ware Touched

<http://www.warioware.biz/touched>

If the infamous narcotic, crack, was available in video game form, chances are it would resemble Wario Ware. Now available on the Nintendo DS, Wario Ware features over 180 mini-games that are perfect for the portable system. Use the DS stylus to complete each successive twitch-worthy challenge – most lasting no longer than three seconds. You'll find yourself doing things like erasing text, shooting targets, slicing fruit and petting dogs as fast as you possibly can. Sound ridiculous? Well, it is – but that's the beauty and fun of these games. Like Whitney said, crack may be wack, but Wario Ware is worth getting addicted to.

FLASHY FLASH DRIVES

iDuck & Sushi USB Flash Drives

www.dynamism.com

You're constantly doing your homework and school projects on different computers and need a safe and easy way to carry around all those important files. This is where a USB flash drive comes in.
